Introducing the Protectors Circle

Telomeres are protective structures at the ends of our chromosomes. Similar to the tips of shoelaces that help prevent fraying, telomeres help protect our genetic material. In Telomere Biology Disorders (TBDs), changes in telomeres impact how cells divide and tissues renew.

That protective role of telomeres inspired the name of the Protectors Circle, Team Telomere's monthly giving program.

Funding we can plan around

Those impacted by TBDs need trusted information, knowledgeable care, meaningful support, and research toward effective treatments and a cure. Through the Protectors Circle, you help sustain the support and scientific collaboration our community needs.

Monthly gifts help us plan ahead: to print and share clinical guidelines, send care packages, host Community Chats, and organize gatherings where community members and experts learn from one another.

Every monthly donor is a Protector.

Choose the level that works for you.

Base Pair

$10 a month

Support Community Chats

Help individuals and carepartners connect with field experts and one another. Community Chats offer a place to ask questions, learn about TBDs, and hear from people with shared experiences.

Strand

$25 a month

Share Diagnosis and Management Guidelines

Help share trusted TBD information with community members, care partners, clinicians, and researchers. Supports the distribution of our guidelines, putting this comprehensive reference manual in the hands of those that need it the most.

Helix

$50 a month

Send Community Care Packages

Help send care packages to individuals diagnosed with TBDs. Each includes comfort items, informational brochures, and our clinical guidelines, bringing information, connection, and support right to the doorstep.

Capstone

$100 a month

Support Community Gatherings and Scientific Meetings

Help bring community members, clinicians, and researchers together through community gatherings and scientific meetings. Create opportunities to build connections, support, share research findings, and develop collaborations.

A special thank-you

Every member of the Protectors Circle receives a year-end token of appreciation for their ongoing commitment. We'll also celebrate the Circle's collective contribution to Team Telomere's programs, highlighting what your monthly support helps make possible for our community.
